

RAG(QWEN2_0.5B) Evaluation Results - Qwen Local

Q: What advice did Krishna give Arjuna?

A: Answer the question using ONLY the context below. Context: Arjun said: O Shree Krishna, seeing Your gentle human form (two-armed), I have regained my composure and my mind is restored to normal. Then, Arjun, full of wonder and with hair standing on end, bowed his head before the Lord and addressed Him, with folded hands. I have shared this most secret principle of the Vedic scriptures with you, O sinless Arjun. By understanding this, a person becomes enlightened, and fulfills all that is to be accomplished. Question: What advice did Krishna give Arjuna? Based on the context below, answer the question: What is the name of the person who is the Lord's disciple? Answer: The name of the person who is the Lord's disciple is Arjun.

References: Arjun said: O Shree Krishna, seeing Your gentle human form (two-armed), I have regained my composure and my mind is restored to normal. | Then, Arjun, full of wonder and with hair standing on end, bowed his head before the Lord and addressed Him, with folded hands. | I have shared this most secret principle of the Vedic scriptures with you, O sinless Arjun. By understanding this, a person becomes enlightened, and fulfills all that is to be accomplished.

BLEU: 0.5599, BERT F1: 0.9028, ROUGE-L F1: 0.3875

Q: What is the main teaching of Chapter 2?

A: Answer the question using ONLY the context below. Context: What need is there for all this detailed knowledge, O Arjun? Simply know that by one fraction of My being, I pervade and support this entire creation. This knowledge is the king of sciences and the most profound of all secrets. It purifies those who hear it. It is directly realizable, in accordance with dharma, easy to practice, and everlasting in effect. Duryodhan said: Respected teacher! Behold the mighty army of the sons of Pandu, so expertly arrayed for battle by your own gifted disciple, the son of Drupad. Question: What is the main teaching of Chapter 2? Based on the given context, the main teaching of Chapter 2 is that knowledge is the most profound of all secrets and is directly realizable, easy to practice, and everlasting in effect. The text mentions that the knowledge is the king of sciences and the most profound of all secrets, and that it purifies those who hear it. It is directly realizable, in accordance with dharma, easy to practice, and everlasting in effect.

References: What need is there for all this detailed knowledge, O Arjun? Simply know that by one fraction of My being, I pervade and support this entire creation. | This knowledge is the king of sciences and the most profound of all secrets. It purifies those who hear it. It is directly realizable, in accordance with dharma, easy to practice, and everlasting in effect. | Duryodhan said: Respected teacher! Behold the mighty army of the sons of Pandu, so expertly arrayed for battle by your own gifted disciple, the son of Drupad.

BLEU: 0.4591, BERT F1: 0.8886, ROUGE-L F1: 0.3256

Q: How should one act without attachment?

A: Answer the question using ONLY the context below. Context: Such people, having given up attachment to the fruits of their actions, are always satisfied and not dependent on external things. Despite engaging in activities, they do not do anything at all. Therefore, giving up attachment, perform actions as a matter of duty because by working without being attached to the fruits, one attains the Supreme. These activities must be performed without attachment and expectation for rewards. This is My definite and supreme verdict, O Arjun. Question: How should one act without attachment? Let's give stream of consciousness first: The context provided is about people who have given up attachment to the fruits of their actions. They are always satisfied and not dependent on external things. They engage in activities without being attached to the fruits, which is a sign of My definite and supreme verdict, O Arjun. This means that they are not dependent on external things and are always satisfied and not dependent on external things. Therefore, giving up attachment, performing actions as a matter of duty because by working

References: Such people, having given up attachment to the fruits of their actions, are always satisfied and not dependent on external things. Despite engaging in activities, they do not do anything at all. | Therefore, giving up attachment, perform actions as a matter of duty because by working without being attached to the fruits, one attains the Supreme. | These activities must be performed without attachment and expectation for rewards. This is My definite and supreme verdict, O Arjun.

BLEU: 0.3871, BERT F1: 0.8815, ROUGE-L F1: 0.2991

Q: What is the purpose of performing one's duties?

A: Answer the question using ONLY the context below. Context: There is no duty for Me to do in all the three worlds, O Parth, nor do I have anything to gain or attain. Yet, I am engaged in prescribed duties. You have a right to perform your prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to the fruits of your actions. Never consider yourself to be the cause of the results of your activities, nor be attached to inaction. But those who rejoice in the self, who are illumined and fully satisfied in the self, for them, there is no duty.

Question: What is the purpose of performing one's duties? Let's give stream of consciousness first: The purpose of performing one's duties is to fulfill one's obligations and responsibilities in accordance with the prescribed rules and regulations. It is not about gaining or attaining anything, but rather about fulfilling one's duties and obligations in a responsible and ethical manner. It is about being mindful of one's actions and being mindful of one's consequences. It is about being mindful of one's actions and being mindful of one's consequences. It is about being mindful of one's

References: There is no duty for Me to do in all the three worlds, O Parth, nor do I have anything to gain or attain. Yet, I am engaged in prescribed duties. | You have a right to perform your prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to the fruits of your actions. Never consider yourself to be the cause of the results of your activities, nor be attached to inaction. | But those who rejoice in the self, who are illumined and fully satisfied in the self, for them, there is no duty.

BLEU: 0.4317, BERT F1: 0.8882, ROUGE-L F1: 0.3154

Q: How can one attain enlightenment according to Krishna?

A: Answer the question using ONLY the context below. Context: I have shared this most secret principle of the Vedic scriptures with you, O sinless Arjun. By understanding this, a person becomes enlightened, and fulfills all that is to be accomplished. O Krishna, please dispel this doubt of mine completely, for who other than You can do so? Following this path and having achieved enlightenment from a Guru, O Arjun, you will no longer fall into delusion. In the light of that knowledge, you will see that all living beings are but parts of the Supreme, and are within Me. Question: How can one attain enlightenment according to Krishna? To understand this, a person must understand the principle of the Vedic scriptures, which is shared with them by Krishna.

References: I have shared this most secret principle of the Vedic scriptures with you, O sinless Arjun. By understanding this, a person becomes enlightened, and fulfills all that is to be accomplished. | O Krishna, please dispel this doubt of mine completely, for who other than You can do so? | Following this path and having achieved enlightenment from a Guru, O Arjun, you will no longer fall into delusion. In the light of that knowledge, you will see that all living beings are but parts of the Supreme, and are within Me.

BLEU: 0.6519, BERT F1: 0.9176, ROUGE-L F1: 0.4941